STIRLING APPOINTS UK INVESTMENT BANKER AS DIRECTOR

Australian resources developer Stirling Resources (ASX:SRE) is pleased to announce the appointment of experienced, London-based corporate financier David Nabarro as a non-executive director.

Mr Nabarro has worked as a financier in the City of London for nearly 40 years, and has an extensive understanding of the financial, industrial and resources sectors.

In 1990, he founded Nabarro Wells & Co, which became one of the UK's leading independent small to mid cap corporate finance houses before being acquired by Ambrian Capital PLC in April 2008.

Mr. Nabarro is a director of Ambrian Partners Limited, Ambrian's investment banking arm, which is recognised as one of the UK's leading small to mid cap natural resources advisers and brokers, where he advises on merger and acquisition activity and the sourcing of capital.

Stirling Resources Managing Director Michael Kiernan said "Mr. Nabarro will add further depth of financial experience to our Board, as well as providing a link to the UK and European capital markets."

"David has first class capital market expertise and networks, specialises in mid cap resources investments and has an intimate understanding of the UK and broader European market. His experience will complement the current Board, and will add value to Stirling Resources as it advances its portfolio of resources projects, and pursues new investment opportunities" he said.

Mr Nabarro said as a Stirling Resources Board member, he looks forward to being involved with the continued development of the Company's resource investments.

"During the past 20 years I have been closely involved with capital investment from the European market into global resources projects, and believe there are exciting opportunities at this point in the commodities cycle for projects with strong management and growth potential" he said.

Stirling Resources Overview

Stirling Resources Limited is an Australian resources developer focusing on investment and development of copper, zircon, coking coal, gold and iron ore projects. It has significant investments in zircon and copper projects through major shareholdings in Matilda Zircon (ASX: MZI) and Redbank Copper (ASX: RCP).

The Company consists of highly experienced resource development and mining personnel with track records of creating shareholder value.

Stirling's strategy for creating shareholder value is to identify projects that comprise commodities that are considered to have strong future demand, and favourable geological characteristics. The focus is on brown fields projects close to development or production.

Driven by the underlying fundamentals of the Chinese economy and the continued massive urbanisation process commodities such as copper, zircon, gold and iron ore will continue to be in strong future demand. The Chinese growth is augmented by the Indian economic growth particularly in the steel industry leading to increasing demands of coking coal.
